Clark Hall Entrance (142 Sciences Drive):

To get to CCSS in Clark Hall, go to 142 Sciences Drive.

Walk down the ramp into the breezeway.

Enter the building through the glass doors on the right hand side. There will be a sign that points to the doors that are labeled “Clark Hall Elevators.”

Turn left and enter the set of elevators (past the freight elevator.) From there, go up to the second floor.

Once arriving on the second floor, there will be a navigation sign straight ahead.

Exit the elevator, and turn left. You will come out to an open hallway above the Clark atrium.

Turn right, passing the AEP reception office on the corner. There will be another navigation sign on the right that can be used for reference.

After turning right, continue straight down the hallway above the atrium.

As you continue down the hallway above the atrium you will pass another navigation sign that directs you to the Clark Library.

Turn right to enter the library in room 290.

Once you've entered the library, turn right to enter the hallway next to room 291, which is our Center's large conference room.

Continue down the hallway until you reach the table and set of chairs.

Turn left by the table and chairs, and continue down the hall where the bathrooms are on the left, and another small meeting room, and two offices are on the right.

Once you've reached the end of the hallway, enter the last door on the left which is room 286, the Director's suite.
